Freie Universität Berlin Department of History and Cultural Studies Institute of Art History invites applications for a tenured

Professorship in Art History of Europe and America with a Focus on Architectural History and Theory (W2/W3)

The successful applicant will be required to cover the area named above in teaching and research.

In accordance with article 100 of the Berlin Higher Education Act (Berliner Hochschulgesetz), a Habilitation, junior professorship, or equivalent postdoctoral qualification is required for this position.

The successful candidate is expected to have an outstanding track record of university teaching and research on international level, and to be well versed in historical and contemporary methods and theories of architectural history and theory. Applicants are also required to have experience with interdisciplinary research, as well as with acquiring funding for, and carrying out, sponsored research.

Applicants are expected to cooperate with colleagues in art history who specialize in either European and American or African, South or East Asian, and Islamic Art History, as well as with colleagues from other disciplines in the humanities, local museums, art collections and other academic institutions. She or he will further be expected to participate in Freie Universität Berlin's own collaborative research efforts, to assume teaching responsibilities with dedication, and to be willing to assume tasks concerning academic self-administration.

The language of instruction is mainly German, but some teaching may be conducted in English. A non-German-speaking appointee will need to be able to teach in German within a reasonable time frame.

The vacancy is a tenured position at the rank of either W2 or W3. The level of appointment will be commensurate with the nominee's qualifications and experience. She or he will be appointed either as a civil servant or as a salaried employee with comparable terms and conditions.

Freie Universität Berlin is an equal opportunity employer.

Applications quoting the reference (code) 130420 must be received at the address below by December, 3rd 2009 and should include a cover letter describing the applicant's interest in the position and relevant experience; a curriculum vitae with three references; a list of publications; and copies of the certificates of all academic degrees awarded.

Freie Universität Berlin is a public university with some 33,000 students and 380 professors or junior professors. It has 11 departments and schools structured into more than 70 institutes - not counting the Charité medical center, which incorporates the medical schools of both Freie Universität and Humboldt Universität. In 2007, the findings of a government initiative to promote excellence in teaching and research appraised Freie Universität Berlin as one of the nation's leading institutions of higher education.
