

2011-2012 Visiting Scholars Program at the CCA Montreal

Alexis Sornin

The Study Centre of the Canadian Centre for Architecture (CCA) announces its 2011-2012 Visiting Scholars Program.

The Program welcomes applications from scholars and architects conducting research at post-doctoral or more advanced academic levels.

The Visiting Scholars Program encourages and supports innovative research in the history, theory, and criticism of architecture in the broadest sense.

The program particularly welcomes historical and critical research proposals that are prompted by, or refer to, the theory and practice of contemporary design culture and related social issues.

Candidates engaged in contemporary professional practices are also encouraged to apply. The aim of the program is to foster intellectual exchange; scholars in residence pursue individual research projects and participate in Study Centre seminars.

<http://www.cca.qc.ca/en/study-centre/visiting-scholars-application>

Reference:

STIP: 2011-2012 Visiting Scholars Program at the CCA Montreal. In: ArtHist.net, Oct 21, 2010 (accessed Dec 3, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/33102>>.