

PhD Position, ZHAW, Swiss National Science Foundation

Zurich, Switzerland; Milan, Italy, Jan 1, 2022–Jan 1, 2025

Application deadline: Nov 20, 2021

Prof Dr Andri Gerber, zhaw

We are looking for a doctoral student to join the SNF-funded project 'Challenging or Reproducing the Status Quo? The Leftist Architect in Milanese Architecture, 196X-198X'. The project will explore the relations between architecture and politics in Milan by analysing the professional networks, built projects, and theoretical texts of a select group of architects operating there.

Requirements for the job include:

- a Master's degree in architecture, architectural history, art history or one of the social sciences
- an excellent command of Italian and English
- some experience in archival research and in conducting interviews
- some experience in publishing, possibly in academic journals

Candidates are expected to move to Switzerland and to spend extended periods of time in Italy for research.

To apply, please send a cover letter, CV, and two letters of recommendation to andri.gerber@zhaw.ch by 20 November 2021. Please direct all enquiries to the same email address.

The project's start date is 1 January 2022.
