

AAMC Engagement Program For International Curators

Deadline: Jan 24, 2022

Glorimar Garcia

AAMC Foundation's Engagement Program for International Curators (EPIC), supported by the Art Fund and Terra Foundation for American Art offers curators around the globe a rare and valuable platform for cross-cultural networking and exchange. Both iterations of EPIC are accepting applications until Monday, January 24, 2022 at 10:00am ET (U.S.)

EPIC U.S. Art Edition

The 2022 EPIC U.S. Art program will award two International Awardees and two U.S. Liaisons exploring art of the United States, including Native American and Indigenous art, whether historical art or contemporary art that manifests a critical and reflective engagement with U.S., Native American, and/or Indigenous histories, art, and art histories.

EPIC U.K. and U.S. Curator Edition

The 2022 EPIC U.K. Curators program will award two U.K. Awardees and two U.S. Liaisons to amplify voices from across the U.K. including England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales within the AAMC Foundation and wider museum sector and deepen international relationships through creating opportunities for genuine exchange and learning.

Both editions will form pairings that work together throughout the program as well as with their iteration's cohort for virtual and in-person components. EPIC U.S. Art and U.K. and U.S. Curator editions both include full funding to participate, with a free and accessible online application process. Applications are encouraged and desired from those that are representative of diversity by self-identifiers, including race, ethnicity, and gender. Applications close Thursday, January 20, 2022, at 10AM ET (U.S.)

Learn More: <https://www.artcurators.org/page/EPIC>

Reference:

ANN: AAMC Engagement Program For International Curators. In: ArtHist.net, Jan 21, 2022 (accessed Apr 25, 2024), <<https://arthist.net/archive/35736>>.