Tenure Track Assistant/Associate Professor, Early Modern European Art, Delaware

University of Delaware, USA, Sep 01, 2023
Application deadline: Dec 1, 2022

Cristen Smith

The Department of Art History in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a full--time, tenure-track position in Early Modern European Art (ca. 1400-1750) at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning September 2023.

We especially welcome candidates whose research situates early modern European art within a global context. Specialties might include technical art history, curatorial studies, intersections between art and science, art and the environment, art theory and practice, art as a system of knowledge, and Islamic art. This position will complement department strengths in the early modern Iberian world and the Americas. We seek collaborative scholars, teachers, and mentors who aim to be leaders in their field.
The Art History Department encourages historical rigor, methodological pluralism, and interdisciplinary dialogue, and is committed to core values of diversity, equity, and inclusion.
The successful applicant will develop a range of undergraduate and graduate courses, supervise undergraduate and graduate theses and dissertations, and participate actively in the life of the department.

Candidates should have completed their Ph.D. by September 1, 2023.

Applicants should upload the following materials: an application letter; CV; a 3-page statement of research and teaching philosophy; a 1-page statement addressing diversity, equity, and inclusion; names and contact information of three references who can provide letters of recommendation. Semifinalists may be asked to provide writing samples.
