

Photographic Practices as Care-Taking (Tromsø/online, 24–25 Nov 22)

PHOTOGRAPHIC PRACTICES AS CARE-TAKING.

A Conference at UiT The Arctic University of Norway, Tromsø and Perspektivet Museum, Tromsø 24-25 November 2022.

The conference takes place physically in Tromsø and online via Zoom (link below) and is a collaboration between the research group WONA Worlding Northern Art at UiT The Arctic University of Norway and Perspektivet Museum, Tromsø.

Initiators and Organizers: Elin Haugdal, Marthe Tolnes Fjellestad, Stephanie von Spreter, Hanne Hammer Stien.

Photographic Practices as Care-Taking aims to examine how photographs take part in complex networks of relations. While particularly analogue image making, curating and archiving suggest a yearning for something ostensibly more stable, more material and concrete than we experience on an everyday basis, other practices embrace today's changing digital culture. Thus, we ask which role photographs take in such a world of constant transformation, how they can "touch" and remain objects of affect when they are simultaneously part of rapidly changing circumstances and contexts. Can photographs be seen as "care-takers", establishing empathic relationships between humans and between humans and more-than-humans? Can photographs create "other" worlds of being and caring? How can photographic images and their practitioners participate in transversal, post-disciplinary processes of recoding, rewriting and "alter-worlding" (Åsberg and Braidotti 2018)? How can photographic practices be recognized as practices of care-taking, from artistic to curatorial, as well as archival and collective methods and (counter)strategies?
