Andrew Dunn

Our Editor since 2017, Michael Hall, will retire from The Burlington this year. We invite applications for a successor.

The Editor is responsible for the overseeing the entire editorial content of the magazine and its sister digital publication Burlington Contemporary. This includes oversight of all editorial activity, including managing editorial staff, budgets and external contributors. The Editor is also responsible for engaging with the art historical, museum, and art dealer communities in developing and enhancing relations to the benefit of the Burlington.

The application deadline is Monday 21 August 2023. Shortlisted candidates will be invited for interview with a panel of Directors and Trustees in early September 2023.

For further information please contact the Managing Director Andrew Dunn (dunn@burlington.org.uk)
