Tickets now available!

A one-day conference at Leeds School of Arts, Leeds Beckett University, organised by Professor Fraser Muggeridge, on Saturday 19 October 2024 exploring how typographic theories and propositions can manifest in practice, can be used to explain practice, and become practice. The conference aims to bring typographic theory and practice closely together across a range of contexts and applications.

We are delighted to share that Professor Paul Luna, author of 'Typography: A Very Short Introduction' (Oxford University Press), will present a keynote lecture.

The conference will be organised around three themes: Type, Typography, and Teaching. The speakers will be announced at the end of July.

Tickets are now available via this link priced at £25.00 with a £10.00 concessionary rate for students. The conference will run from 9.30am – 5pm with a complimentary lunch. There are 210 tickets available.
