Sapieha Palace Symposium 2025: "On Ageing".

On Saturday, March 8, 2025, Sapieha Palace will launch its first annual Sapieha Palace Symposium, an event designed to explore critical issues in art and culture in a comprehensive manner.

The theme of the inaugural symposium is "Ageing." The symposium brings together an international group of art historians, sociologists, conservators, and artists who will examine the representation of ageing and ageing processes from various perspectives. Using feminist art history approaches, they will analyze the relationship between the work of women artists of advanced age and the materials they use, as well as questions surrounding the representation—or rather the impossibility of representation—of old age. Participants will discuss visions of the future and ageing in queer communities, and explore the subversive potential of queer ageing that disrupt normative temporalities. Finally, the symposium will delve into the question of temporal materials, including artworks and cultural heritage, examining how their deterioration challenges traditional institutional and thought structures.

Symposium Speakers:

Eglė Ambrasaitė, Jo Applin, Julia Bryan-Wilson, Kim Kraczon, Rebeka Põldsam, and Artūras Tereškinas.
