Museum Curator, Museum of National History, Frederiksborg

Frederiksborg - Museum of National History, Feb 11–Mar 1, 2026
Application deadline: Mar 1, 2026

Lejla Mrgan

Frederiksborg is seeking a highly qualified Museum Curator with a focus on 16th–17th-century art (30 hours per week).

An impressive castle, a fantastic collection and wonderful colleagues. We are now looking for a new curator who is specialized in 16th-17th centuries art.

We look for a colleague with the following qualifications:
- Relevant education, preferably PhD in history of Art
- Specialized knowledge of the 16th-17th centuries
- Experience with curating and producing exhibitions including collaboration with architects and graphic designers.
- Strong professional network
- Project management skills
- Strong communication skills
- Some knowledge of Denmark and Danish history
- Ability to work independently with an eye for the community

We offer:
- An opportunity to work with a fantastic collection that spans from the 15th century to the present day
- A unique setting at one of Denmark's most beautiful castles
- A dedicated team
- A Danish speaking workplace where we are open to include colleagues with other backgrounds

Application:
Documents required are an application and a CV.
Recommendations may be sent along, but are not required.

Further information: Please contact head of Collections and Exhibitions Mette Houlberg Rung +4552106235

The position is 30 hours per week. Starting date 1.5.26.

Send your application with CV to Chief Secretary Dorthe Heedegaard at job@frederiksborg.dk. Please write "Museum curator with a focus on art in the 16th-17th centuries" in the subject line no later than Sunday 1.3.26.

Interviews are expected to be held on 5.3.26

Reference:

JOB: Museum Curator, Museum of National History, Frederiksborg. In: ArtHist.net, Feb 12, 2026 (accessed Nov 24, 2026), <https://arthist.net/archive/51722>.