Buildings and Cities in Early Modern Italy

Session at the Renaissance Society of America Annual Meeting 2014

This session (or sessions) aims to bring together papers exploring the relationship between architectural and urban forms in Italian cities. We are interested in proposals that consider the fluid dialogue between buildings and their city in the Early Modern period. How does the urban environment impact architectural forms and choices and vice versa? How do buildings communicate with the city and its inhabitants?

We invite abstracts of 150 words that deal with all types of Italian urban spaces and buildings in the Early Modern period. Please submit abstracts, keywords, and a brief CV (300 words) by May 20, 2013 to the organizers, Alexandra Dodson (alexandra.dodson@duke.edu) and Jasmine Cloud (jasmine.cloud@temple.edu).
