

Axé: Art and Spirituality in the Black Diaspora (Vienna/online, 22–24 Apr 26)

Vienna, Weltmuseum Wien / Online, Apr 22–24, 2026

Registration deadline: Apr 21, 2026

Franziska Wasserberg, Wien

The upcoming international conference "Axé: Art and Spirituality in the Black Diaspora" explores the Yoruba concept of Axé/Aché/Aṣẹ – the understanding that every being, object, and expression carries a spiritual force granted by the creator Olódùmarè. Transported across the Atlantic through the histories of enslavement from the 16th century onward, this vital energy continues to shape artistic, spiritual, and cultural practices throughout the African diaspora, particularly in regions such as Brazil, Cuba, and Haiti.

Taking place from 22–24 April 2026 at the Weltmuseum Wien, the three-day event brings together scholars, artists, worshippers and independent researchers from Europe, Africa, and the Americas. The conference examines how diasporic identities—echoing Stuart Hall's notion of identity as a "matter of becoming and being"—emerge through material culture, sound, performance, spirituality, and embodied practices. Panels and discussions address themes including ancestral epistemologies, contested collections, music as archive, ritual objects, and the intersections of art and spirituality. Across sessions on care, memory, and artistic self-definition, participants dive into how communities across Central and South America and the Caribbean have created alternative spiritual and artistic spaces, sustaining diverse Black identities and living knowledge systems while critically engaging with colonial histories and the politics of memory.
