

Rethinking the Artist's Biography in the 19th Century (Laren, 12 Jun 26)

Singer Museum, Laren, The Netherlands, Jun 12, 2026

Eveline Deneer

SALON 2026 conference.

Unreliable Lives: Rethinking the Artist's Biography in the Nineteenth Century.

How are artists' biographies constructed, and how do these narratives shape or distort our understanding of their work?

This one-day international conference examines biography not as a stable source of meaning, but as a constructed and sometimes unreliable framework that shapes how artists are understood, judged, and received. Focusing on the long nineteenth century - a period that codified the modern image of the artist and entrenched powerful narratives of genius, identity, and reputation - the programme brings together scholars who probe the limits, uses, and distortions of artist biographies.
