

Tenure Track or Tenured Pos., Netherlandish Art, Harvard University

Cambridge, MA

Application deadline: Oct 25, 2026

Emily Ware

Harvard University,
Faculty of Arts and Sciences,
Department of History of Art and Architecture,
Cambridge, MA:

Tenure-Track or Tenured Professor in Netherlandish Art.

Position Description:

The Department of History of Art and Architecture seeks to appoint a tenure-track or tenured professor in Netherlandish Art of the early modern period, with preference for candidates with expertise in seventeenth-century Dutch Art and Flemish Art. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1st, 2027. The appointee will teach and advise at the undergraduate and graduate levels. External applicants and finalists considered for a tenured appointment will need to complete the same procedures as external applicants and finalists in a search designated specifically for a tenured appointment.

Basic Qualifications:

Doctorate or terminal degree in History of Art or related discipline required by the time the appointment begins.

Additional Qualifications:

Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching, advising, and research is desired. Candidates for a tenured appointment should also evince intellectual leadership and impact on the field and potential for significant contributions to the department, University, and wider scholarly community.

Special Instructions:

Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/16672>). Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 25th, 2026; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Candidates for a tenured position

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. External applicants to a tenured position are required to complete, sign, and upload/submit the form entitled "Authorization to release information for external applicants" as part of the Conduct

Inquiry Process and Procedures for External Applicants and Finalists to Tenured Positions.

4. Candidates for a tenured position need not submit reference letters at this stage; simply skip the reference page of the application.

Candidates for a tenure-track position

1. Cover letter

2. Curriculum Vitae

3. Teaching/advising statement (describing the candidate's teaching philosophy and practices as well as their approach to creating a learning environment in which every student is encouraged to ask questions and share their ideas)

4. Research statement

5. Service statement describing efforts to strengthen academic communities (e.g., the candidate's department, institution, and/or professional societies)

6. Optional: Writing sample

7. Candidates for a tenure-track position are also required to submit names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received. For candidates for a tenure-track position, at least one letter must come from someone who has not served as the candidate's undergraduate, graduate, or postdoctoral advisor.
