

Panel at SEASECS 2027 (Oxford, 3–6 Mar 27)

Oxford, MS (University of Mississippi), Mar 3–06, 2027

Deadline: Oct 15, 2026

Sarah Sylvester Williams, University of Missouri

18th century Art History

Open panel at SEASECS - Southeastern American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies Conference 2027

This open session invites research of any art historical topic that spans the long eighteenth century. Particularly welcome are papers that address global interactions, highlight artists or mediums that have been historically overlooked, or challenge disciplinary norms. Papers may focus on, but are not limited to, visual and material culture of the eighteenth-century, the reception and historiography of eighteenth-century art, or disciplinary concerns for eighteenth-century art.

Scholars of all career stages are encouraged to apply. Send proposals (200-500 words, no CV required) to Sarah Sylvester Williams, willisj@millsaps.edu by October 15, 2026.

<https://www.seasecs.org/2027-conference>

Reference:

CFP: Panel at SEASECS 2027 (Oxford, 3-6 Mar 27). In: ArtHist.net, Oct 3, 2026 (accessed Oct 4, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/54526>>.