Andrew W. Mellon Fellowship in Critical Bibliography

Application deadline: Nov 30, 2026

Holly Borham

The Andrew W. Mellon Society of Fellows in Critical Bibliography (SoFCB) at the Rare Book School, University of Virginia is inviting applications for the 2027 cohort of Junior Fellows. The SoFCB is a community of scholars working across disciplines to advance the study of texts, images, and artifacts as material objects. Ten Junior Fellows will be selected to join the SoFCB in 2027; they may become Senior Fellows after completing two years of the fellowship's required activities in good standing. The application deadline for the SoFCB Junior Fellows Program is 20 November 2026, at 11:50 pm ET. To learn more about the fellowship program and application, please visit: https://rarebookschool.org/scholarships-fellowships/sofcb-junior-fellows/. For any questions about the SoFCB Junior Fellows Program, please email sofcb_staff@virginia.edu.

Reference:

STIP: Andrew W. Mellon Fellowship in Critical Bibliography. In: ArtHist.net, Nov 16, 2026 (accessed Nov 16, 2026), <https://arthist.net/archive/57118>.