

Terra Summer Residency in Giverny, France (14 Jun–8 Aug 11)

Giverny, France, Jun 14–Aug 8, 2011

Application deadline: Jan 15, 2011

Ewa Bobrowska, Terra Foundation for American Art Europe

Terra Summer Residency in Giverny, France

June 14–August 8, 2011

The Terra Foundation for American Art annually offers ten Terra Summer Residency fellowships in Giverny, France, to artists and scholars from the United States and Europe for the independent study of American art and visual culture within a framework of interdisciplinary exchange and dialogue. During the eight-week stay, senior artists and scholars are in residence to mentor the fellows and pursue their own work. Fellowships are awarded to doctoral students researching a subject on American art and visual culture and/or its role in a context of international artistic exchange, and to artists who have completed their studies at the master's level within the past five years. Fellows are selected on the quality of the proposed project, the level of excellence and intellectual rigor or artistic creativity achieved in the applicant's previous studies or work, and the applicant's ability to engage in a community environment. Applications are by nomination only. For further information, please visit www.terraamericanart.org/scholarship/fellowships or contact the Terra Summer Residency offices at tsr@terraamericanart.eu.

Reference:

STIP: Terra Summer Residency in Giverny, France (14 Jun–8 Aug 11). In: ArtHist.net, Dec 14, 2010

(accessed Dec 4, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/657>>.