

Grants to Direct an NEH Summer Program in 2015

Application deadline: Mar 4, 2014

NEH Division of Education Programs

The National Endowment for the Humanities is accepting applications for grants to direct a summer program for college faculty or schoolteachers on a humanities topic of your expertise.

For examples, see this year's list of NEH summer programs:
<http://www.neh.gov/divisions/education/summer-programs>.

Why direct an NEH summer program?

- Directors influence their fields of expertise through intense collegial study, often resulting in participants' publications.
- Directors strengthen teaching and research at the undergraduate and K-12 levels.
- Directors join a distinguished roster of NEH summer program leaders and bring distinction to their home institutions.
- Directors choose participants from across the country, including graduate students.
- Directors receive compensation ($15,000-$22,500) based on the duration of the program.

Interested in applying? Consult the application guidelines:

NEH Summer Seminars and Institutes:

<http://www.neh.gov/grants/education/summer-seminars-and-institutes>

NEH Landmarks of American History and Culture Workshops:

<http://www.neh.gov/grants/education/landmarks-american-history-and-culture-workshops-school-teachers>

The deadline to propose a summer program for Summer 2015 is March 4, 2014.

We strongly encourage you to discuss your proposal with NEH staff, who will answer questions and critique drafts. Call (202) 606-8500 or send e-mail to sem-inst@neh.gov or landmarks@neh.gov.

Reference:

STIP: Grants to Direct an NEH Summer Program in 2015. In: ArtHist.net, Jan 22, 2014 (accessed Apr 7, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/6741>>.