Doctoral bursary in Architecture
School of Art, Architecture and Design
The Faculty of Arts, Environment and Technology
Leeds Beckett University
United Kingdom
The Faculty of Arts, Environment and Technology is currently offering One UK/EU fees only PhD bursary in Architecture, at the School of Art, Architecture and Design, for entry in February 2015.
The Faculty offers a unique environment for integrating research across a range of areas covering culture, creativity, design, sustainability and digital domains. This environment provides opportunities for developing exciting multi-disciplinary and inter-disciplinary research projects.
The School of Art, Architecture and Design is interested in receiving applications in the field of architectural research addressing the relationship between ARCHITECTURAL THEORY AND THE DESIGN PROCESS in the urban environment, and the influence on the specifically architectural of other spatial and critical practices.

In particular, we welcome research proposals that aim to explore the state of THEORY in architecture, through critical reconsiderations and current practices.
The closing date for bursary applications is midnight on Sunday 30th November 2014.
