

nonsite.org #14: Nineteenth-Century France Now

nonsite.org/issue-14-nineteenth-century-france-now-art-technology-culture

Bridget Alsdorf, National Gallery of Art, Washington

nonsite.org announces Issue #14 (Winter 2014/2015):

Nineteenth-Century France Now:
Art, Technology, Culture

In this issue, nonsite features new work on 19th-century French art and visual culture, from telegraphy to lithography, Orientalists to Post-Impressionists, Manet to Degas. Edited by Bridget Alsdorf.

Table of Contents

"When I was a Telegrapher"

Richard Taws (University College London)

"Capital in the Nineteenth Century: Edgar Degas's Portraits at the Stock Exchange in 1879"

Marnin Young (Yeshiva University)

"Bonnard's Sidewalk Theater"

Bridget Alsdorf (Princeton University)

"How Orientalist Painters Die"

Marc Gotlieb (Williams College)

"Gérôme, Rodin, and Sculpture's Interior"

Gülru Çakmak (University of Massachusetts Amherst)

"Portraits of Fantasy, Portraits of Fashion"

Susan L. Siegfried (University of Michigan)

"Visible Specters, Images from the Atmosphere"

Nancy Locke (Pennsylvania State University)

nonsite.org is an online, open access, peer-reviewed quarterly journal of scholarship in the arts and humanities.

<http://nonsite.org>

Reference:

TOC: nonsite.org #14: Nineteenth-Century France Now. In: ArtHist.net, Dec 19, 2014 (accessed Jul 16, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/9146>>.